Dear Residents and Families of The Springs Living,

This week's Virtual Town Hall video features Acting Chief Operating Officer Brenda Connelly as she interviews a special guest: Shula Jaron of Enviral Tech, the company we are partnering with to take an innovative approach in our fight against COVID-19.

Shula and Brenda discuss the role that surface testing is playing in our strategy to proactively search for the virus on high-touch surfaces in each of our communities. This has resulted in us discovering COVID-19 in two of our communities before any residents or staff displayed symptoms -- giving us a 5-day head start on taking action to contain it before it can spread further.

Also, we continue to discuss how to continue on improving daily life for our residents, including looking for ways to reunite families. While residents are able to travel within their community and interact with each other and staff, we know that being separated from family is taking its toll and hope to have options until the state mandate restricting non-essential visitors is lifted.

Last, we will be taking a break from producing the weekly town hall videos for a while, but we will continue to update you with an email each Wednesday in addition to updating our website regularly.

Be well,

Fee Stubblefield
